ASKS SCIENTIFIC KNOWLEDGE

College of Agriculture Receives Requests for Bulletins

The College of Agriculture is receiving requests from distant parts of the world for scientific information. A few days ago a letter was received in the dean's office from Geofilo Reyes Cerda, of Melipilla, Chocoma, Chile. It was written in Spanish and when translated was found to be a request for bulletins from the College of Agriculture which on account of the backwardness of agriculture in Chile, are considered of special value.

The Czechoslovakian embassy at Washington has also sent in a request for information and is especially anxious for bulletins on experiment stations. The College of Agriculture exchanges bulletins with all scientific agricultural institutions in the world. In the library there are official reports of these institutions, or if not a report, at least a digest of what has been done in any given line of work. It is now possible to get definite information written in practically any language on any agricultural subject of importance upon which work has been done in the agricultural library.

BABY STARE LOSES A VOTE

18-Months-Old Baby Was Taken to Polls, But Couldn't Talk.

By United Press.
LONDON, May 9.—If it hadn't been for Angela Churchill's vacant stare she would have been the world's youngest voter.

Under English law, anyone whose name happens to get onto the register of voters is entitled to vote, regardless of age or other qualifications. So when Angela's name by accident appeared on the register at Sithney, Cornwall, her mother carried her to the polls. Her age was given as 18 months and it was decided she could vote; but when the usual questions were put to her, she only stuck a finger in her mouth and stared.

REILLY PROTEST RENEWED

Senator King Says Governor of Porto Rico Is Not Fit.

By United Press.
WASHINGTON, May 10.—Renewed demands for the removal of E. Mont Reilly at Porto Rico was made today on the floor of the Senate by Senator King of Utah.

"He is no more fit to be governor of Porto Rico than Goldstein was to be revenue collector at St. Louis," declared King.

120 LANGUAGES IN INDIA

New Student Says Various Tongues Sprang From Sanskrit.

There are about 120 different languages now existing in India, all sprung from Sanskrit, says M. D. Kolhatkar, a new student from Wardha, Central Province India. The chief ones are Punjabi, Hindoostani, Guzerati, Marathi, Bengali, Telugu, Tami, Urdu, and Sindi. Kolhatkar came to this country in February, 1920, and has attended various schools of engineering in Illinois and Wisconsin. He studied last year in the Louis Institute of Chicago. He came to Columbia March 3 and has enrolled in the School of Engineering of this University for the spring term. He expects to stay in this country for two or three years more.

AT THE THEATERS

Columbia

Tonight—The troubles of a boy who wouldn't be a girl even in the play "Uncle Tom's Cabin," is the theme of "Little Eva Ascends." Gareth Hughes as Roy St. George suddenly rebels at playing the part of Little Eva. He feels that he has outgrown feminine roles and proves it by ruining his scene. He loses his job but goes to the farm where he feels more at home.

"GET THE HABIT"

TO THE PUBLIC

We want you to know the interest we have in serving you satisfactorily. We know that you appreciate that it is impossible to do a large volume of business without ever making an error but it is our ambition to come as near to it as possible.

Following is a copy of instructions recently issued to our employees and we want you to notify us when they fail to live up to them.

Instructions to Employees

Read Carefully

1st. If you are not CERTAIN what the order calls for, inquire at the office.

2nd. Then make SURE that you get the RIGHT FLAVOR and QUANTITY from the storage room.

3rd. Then make SURE that you have tied the right tag on the RIGHT order.

4th. Drivers, be very particular that you leave the RIGHT order with the RIGHT bill at the RIGHT place at the RIGHT time.

5th. REMEMBER, we offer the public two things, QUALITY and SERVICE. Either one without the other will fail, so we MUST and WILL hold each employee strictly responsible for the careful and faithful performance of duty. You know we have the QUALITY, now give this matter of service your best efforts.
